Introduction

Welcome to Appointments Introduction. This is a quick video to highlight the nature of appointment booking. Nothing too fancy or that you probably couldn't already guess but a good place to start nonetheless.

What Is An Appointment? 🗓️⁉️

An appointment is a call between you and a prospective client (someone in your niche who is suffering from the problem you solve). It's a scheduled, pre-arranged time on your calendar and their calendar with the intention to discuss how you can help them achieve an outcome they desire and solve a problem they are facing.

Appointment booking is by far and large the most important aspect of your business. It feeds everything and is totally crucial. It's also the hardest part and the hardest thing to get right. It's the toughest mental game you will ever play in business, trust me. The reason behind this is that appointment booking is the fastest way to change your reality, and therefore your identity and place in the world. This means your current sense of self will stop at nothing when throwing resistance and pain at you. Be ready for total, all out mental warfare. It's not going to be 'fun' or 'easy' or 'pretty'. It's going to really suck, it's going to be difficult for you and that's the truth. Consider your expectations set!

Booking Channels ☎️🏄

There are only 4 channels through which you can book appointments:

1. Outbound: reaching out to people in your niche via cold methods to schedule… (Cold Calling, Cold Email, Cold DM)

2. Inbound: creating content to add value and entice people in your niche to schedule… (X, YouTube, Instagram, Email List)

3. Ads: paid media, placing ads on social/search platforms… (Facebook, YouTube, Google, TikTok etc)

4. Referrals: word of mouth, clients or people in your network making introductions.

The strategy we are going to focus on in this Program is 80% outbound, 20% inbound.

This means that 80% of your time/day should be spent doing cold outreach to your niche, and 20% of your time/day should be spent making content for your niche.

This is because:

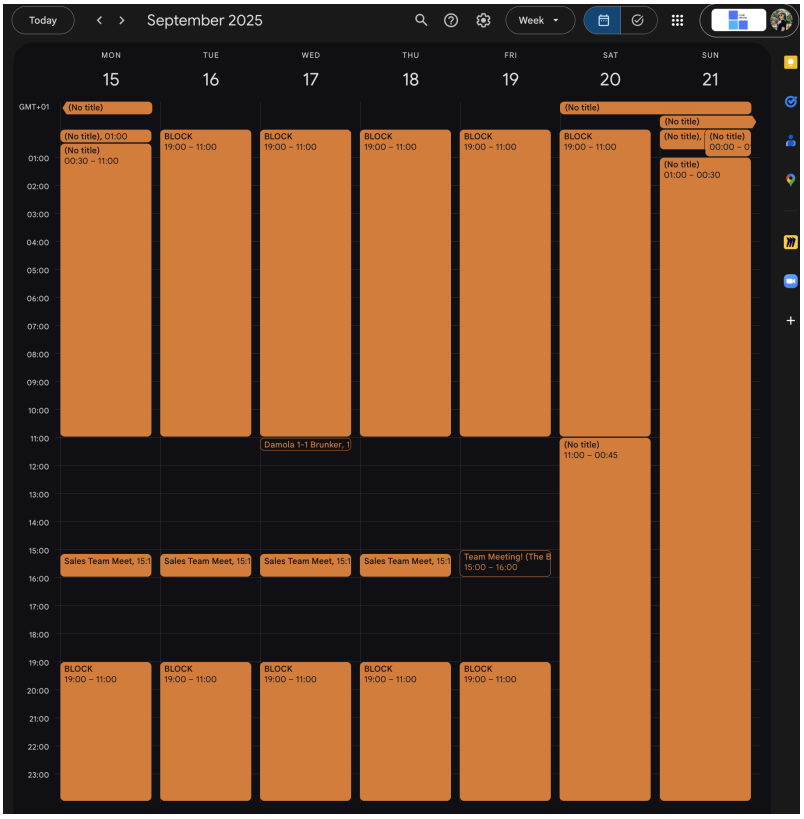

Outbound can get immediate results and will sharpen your sales skills.
Inbound will take 3-12 months to produce anything (& requires significant time investment).
Ads you don't have the money, or you haven't proven anything to work yet.
Referrals you don't have any clients or niche connections to refer to you.

Google Calendar Configuration 📅

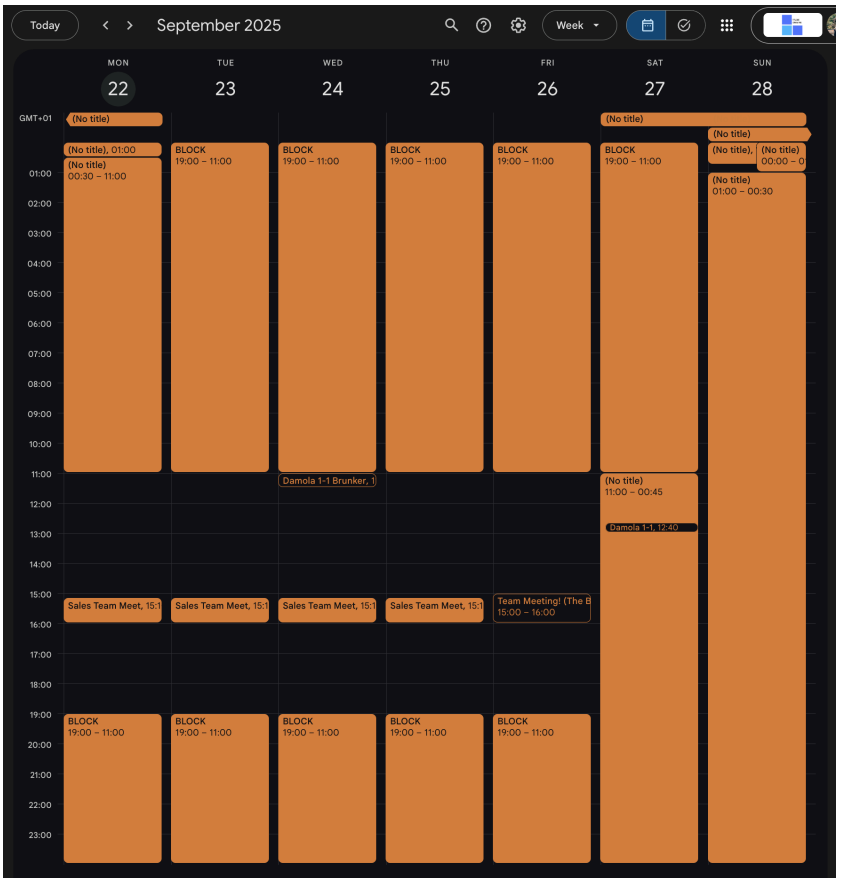

We need to configure your calendar so that when we set up your scheduling software everything can be integrated and people can book in nice and easy.

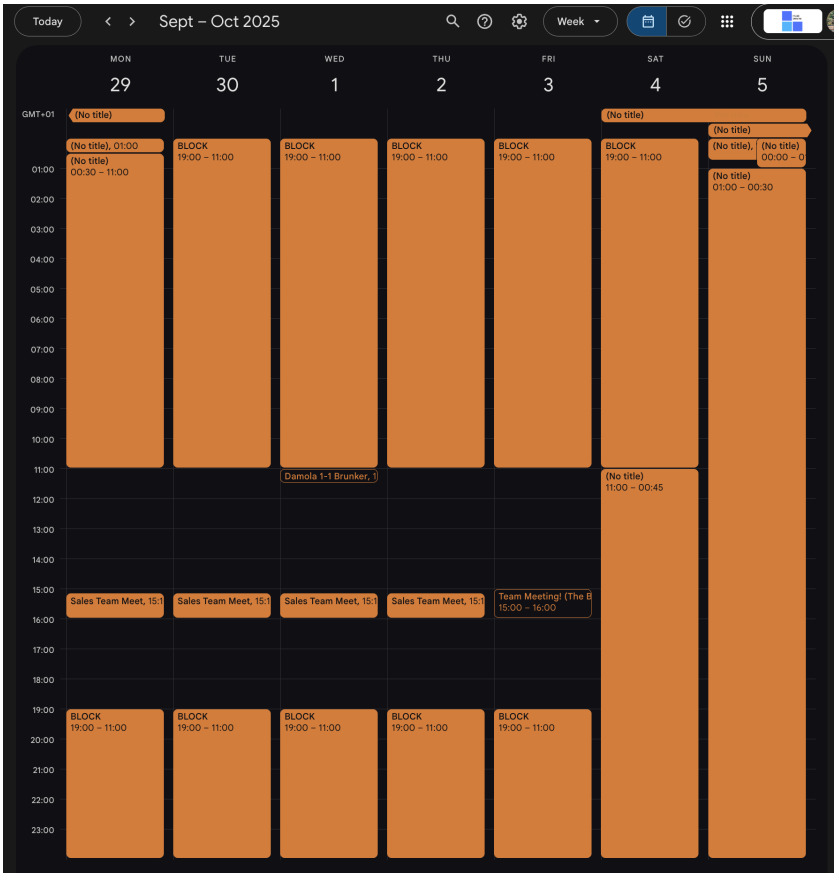

Step 1: Login to your Google Workspace account (created in Week 1).
Step 2: Go to calendar.google.com and bookmark it
Step 3: Block out the time you'll be sleeping (8-9 hr)
Step 4: Block out any other daily commitments that you can't avoid.
Step 5: Set sleep and commitments to recur daily/weekly depending on your schedule.

For example here's what one of my closers calendars looks like every week (don't necessarily copy his work schedule, his start and finish times depend on the timezones he's taking calls with and are specific to our company, niche, etc.

Mental Game 🧠🧘‍♀️

Appointment booking is a big mental game. It's going to really test your mettle.

Right now you're probably excited and feel all warm and fuzzy inside at the prospect of hopping on calls. You probably think all you need to do now is send a few emails, follow your script and start making some money. You're wrong.

Appointment booking is hard, and it's very tough. You need to be prepared for this. It's not sunshines and rainbows, it's monotony and rejection. You're going to have to repeat the same actions and get rejected in the same way over, and over and over again for the next 12-24 months (only 3-6 if you're in EasyGrow). It's going to be a year of boredom and pain.

Once you've got a bunch of clients onboard and have proven your sales process, methodology etc, then you can start outsourcing the appointment booking a bit to other people. However I can truly tell you if you do this alone without EG's systems it's gonna take about 12-24 months to get there. It's possible and you can totally do it, but you need to show up, consistently, no matter how you feel or what you're going through and do it every single day.

I'm not telling you any of this to discourage you or pitch EasyGrow, it's just simply the truth. You're going to have to go through a lot of variable testing, etc.

The reason? I simply cannot give you the cold outreach or content scripts, templates and stimuli that you can 'copy and paste' to get clients. I do this in EasyGrow for actual clients.

However, there are going to be god knows how many people in here, and any script I give is going to be quickly overused, and become very saturated and stop working. This means you need to create your own scripts and templates (using principles I'll give you, don't worry), but this means you need to follow the scientific method which (you guessed it) takes a lot more time than just copying a variable someone has already proven 3000+ times.

Just giving you a truthful warning and setting your expectations!

Full Time Job 🏋️📥

From this moment onwards, if you're not figuring out how to book appointments or actively trying to do work that books you appointments, then you're wasting your time.

There are now only three things that you should focus on with your business.

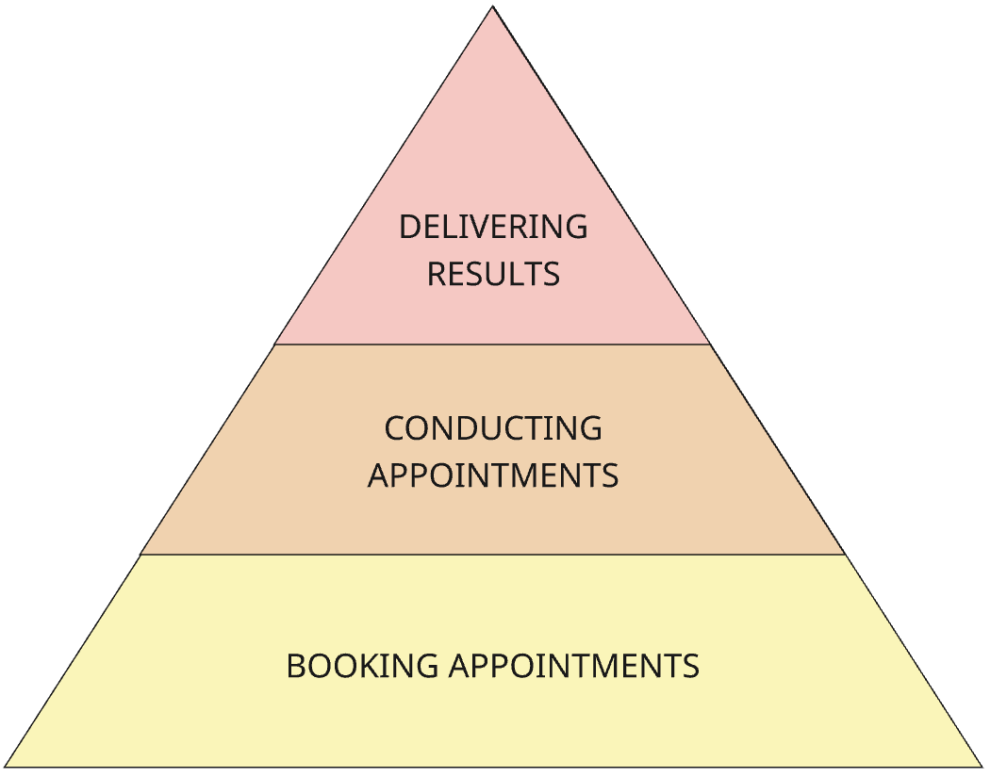

If you aren't working on 1 of these three things, then you are wasting your time.

This displays a hierarchy of priority:

- Delivering results for clients is the most important thing.
- Conducing appointments is the second most important thing.
- Booking appointments is the third most important thing.

Here's the thing: you can't deliver results if you don't conduct appointments, and you can't conduct appointments if you don't book them. So booking appointments truly is the flame, the fuel, the most important thing to the growth and prosperity of your company.

It is the main thing. Therefore it should require all of your focus and attention. Your sales script can only be improved if you have calls to take and your methodology can only be improved if you have clients from calls you've booked and conducted. It all starts with the appointment booking.

A rule:

1. Once you get a client, their results come before anything else.

This doesn't mean that once you land a client or two you stop prospecting, reaching out, producing content or selling. No. The acquisition machine must constantly be running. But now you know what to prioritise.

Here's how you should be splitting your time:

- Outbound: 5x days a week
- Inbound (content): 1x day a week

^ we'll talk about how to do this specifically in the next few videos.

The Quadrant / The 4 Things That Matter 🟩🟥 (from 1.1 Elucidatory Axioms)

There are only 4 things that matter in your consulting business. If you ever catch yourself working on anything but one of these 4 things, you're wasting your time and doing the wrong thing.

1. Solid foundations & mindset

- Nailing your understanding of business fundamentals (remembering and applying the lessons from this video and videos to come)
- Nailing your business foundations (picking a solid niche, finding a solid problem, crafting a great offer, developing expertise, etc)
- Nailing your understanding of mindset (fixing beliefs, identity, paradigms, etc)

2. Booking Sales Appointments

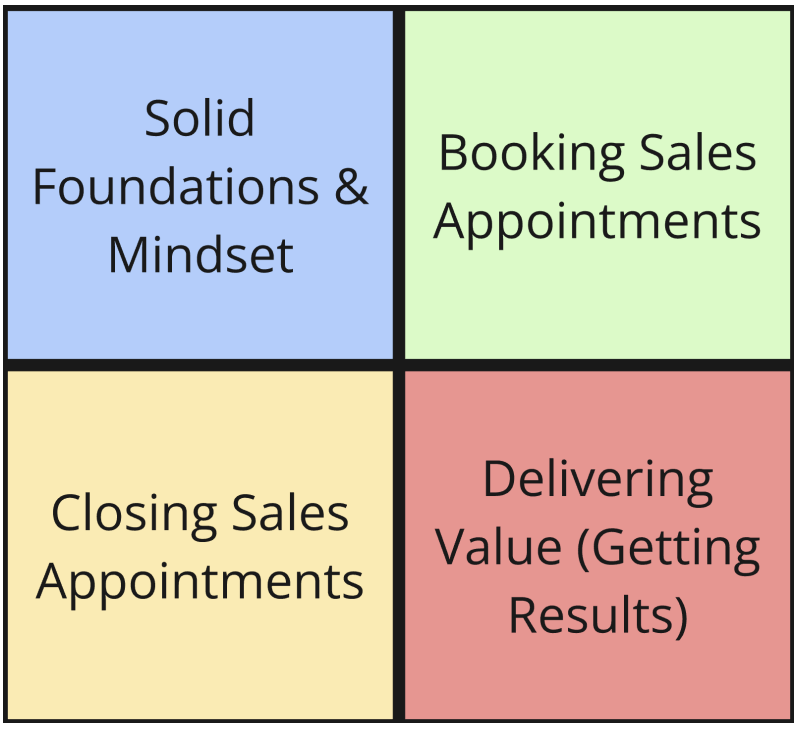

- Consistently reaching out to people in your niche with your offer to encourage them to schedule a sales call with you
- Creating content for people in your niche to encourage them to schedule a sales call with you

3. Closing Sales Appointments

- Conducting sales appointments via Zoom to sign strangers into paying clients using your sales script

4. Delivering Value (Getting Results)

- Consistently working on your expertise, training and practising your craft
- Working with/on clients and getting them results, keeping your promises and making them really happy
